

TIPS:

Finding the Right Boots

One of our biggest challenges is convincing customers to buy the correct size in ski boots. Ski boots are sized in the Mondo Point System, which is based on the centimeters inside the boot. It's important to buy your boots the right size and not too big, as the liners will 'pack out' as you wear them. So when you try on your new boots, that's as small as they're ever going to feel. Boots that are too big may feel comfortable but will have a negative impact on your skiing ability, because your feet will move inside the boot instead of transmitting the correct motion directly to your skis.

There are lots of things we can do to help improve the fit of any ski boot. Custom insoles will improve the fit and performance of your boots, and sometimes add a little 'length' to the boot by building up the arch. Heel lifts can also make a significant difference in how your boots fit and feel. Our staff attends 'Master Fit U' seminars to learn the latest techniques for fitting boots correctly, and we have years of experience fitting even the most challenging feet!
